This Office action is in response to applicants' RCE request of 1-20-05.

All previous rejections/objections have been withdrawn.

Applicants declarations has been reviewed but is moot since the previous rejections were withdrawn based on applicants amendment.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

> A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –
> (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

> (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 26-30, 33 and 34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Kaita et al. (WO99/52980).

It is noted that US 6,730,736 claims priority to the application which became the WO patent which is therefore assumed identical. Since the US patent is in English it will be referred to.

Kaita disclose a composition containing two grafted polymers for forming a film (abstract) derived from polymerization of olefins (and therefore embracing applicants

"polyolefin") which has "adhesive property" (column 23, lines 11-15). Note Example 1 where the two materials are blended in solvent and the solvent removed and that curing only takes place subsequent to removal of solvent and hence minimization of crosslinking would be inherent prior to heating at 250 degrees centigrade in Example 1. While heated mixing above the melting points of the two polymers is not disclosed, applicants specification discloses that avoidance of changes due to heating is desirable in applicants process and applicants' process in is an advancement in the art at least in part for this reason. Therefore the lack of heating in the patented process would not reasonably appear to be a difference between patentees' process and applicants. Note that the graft of "Example 1" of the patent, formed in "Synthesis Example 2" is not pelleted. While not all of applicants' process limitations are present in the patent, applicants are claiming a product, not a process and for the reasons set out above, applicants and patentees' product reasonably appear to be the same or slightly different.

Product-by-process claims are not rejected using the approach set out in Graham v. Deere. It is applicant's burden to show that there is a non-obvious difference between the product of a product-by-process claim and a prior art product which reasonably appears to be the same or only slightly different whether or not the prior art product is produced in the same manner as the claimed product. Note In re Marosi, 218 USPQ 289, 292-293 (CAFC 1983); In re Brown, 173 USPQ 685 (CCPA 1972) and In re Thorpe, 227 USPQ 964 (CAFC 1985) in this regard.
